WHY is Guitau like an unhinged gate? Because he ought to be hung.

THE Owensboro Post has changed from a quarto to a folio and is doing well.

A GREAT many men are self-made, but the job reflects no credit on the contractors.

WALTER P. EMERSON, until recently of the Russellville Herald-Enterprise, has accepted a position on the Courier Journal.

THERE is just now in the public mind a sense of having forgotten something. What is it? Ex-President Hayes, Wheeler, too.

A VERY highly estimated negro, of Logan county, was waylaid and murdered last week. The murderer has not been caught up with.

KENTUCKY gallies show up on all occasions. A Captain Re-pass, of the Mason Guards, knocked a Michigan soldier down for insulting a lady.

A MAN who does business on credit is like the little boy who stands in a stream and throws water upon the bank to make it slippery for another little boy to slide down.

"A MAN may smile and smile, and be a villain." A man may "smile" and "smile" and not be a villain, but there is every chance for him to get very drunk in a short time.

THE owners of the dogs which fought near Louisville a week or two ago, have been indicted for the offense. Efforts will be made to indict every one who bet anything on the fight.

THE HERALD-ENTERPRISE has seen a car of corn which was raised from seed grown this year. The corn was planted in the early spring, and then gathered and planted August fifteenth.

WE are informed that sickness exists in Owensboro to a very alarming extent, and that funerals to the number of three or four per day occur there. Typhoid fever seems to be the prevailing malady, and is unusually fatal.

GENERAL M. LEWIS CLARKE, who served with distinction in the Black Hawk, Mexican, and late Civil war, died last Friday morning at Frankfort in the 77th year of his age. He was with General Lee during the Virginia campaign.

FROM the number of homicides occurring in this State, we think it pertinent to suggest that Editor Watterston's apothegm "Unarmed Kentucky" be laid aside as of no further use. Correspondence on this subject from the press and public is invited.

THE Louisville Democrat pitches into Gov. Blackburn for being absent from the Kentucky troops during the review at Yorktown, and very appropriately castigates him for being out of place. He was with Gen. Fitzhugh Lee and the Virginia troops, and during the entire parade, was not seen by his own forces.

NEW YORK now has the President and two Cabinet officers, and Western Republicans are becoming frightened at her chances to secure the next Speaker of the House. They think that so much power will give New York an undue influence in National affairs, and will try hard to unite on a Western man, probably Kasson, of Iowa, for Speaker. They ought to do so.

THE James boys are thought to be in Kentucky, and last Friday night an effort to capture them was made in Logan county. A house in which it was supposed they were lodged was surrounded by armed men, but when daylight came the boys were gone. It is thought that they murdered the negro who was killed near Ashville last week, and that they are now near Bardonia.

JUDGE FOLGER, of New York, has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury instead of Ex-Gov. Morgan, as was stated last week. Mr. Folger has been a long time in public life, and is one of the prominent Republicans of the State. He leaves the bench of the Court of Appeals to take a place in the Cabinet, and has been a member of both houses of the General Assembly of New York. Our readers will remember that he was spoken of in the formation of Garfield's Cabinet, and also, that he was one of the candidates to succeed Conkling in the New York Senatorship.

AN exchange says: "The North American Review may gain notoriety by publishing Ingersoll's articles, but it will not gain the respect of the American people." Just such intolerance and bigotry as this is actually doing more today to injure the Christian religion than all the Ingersolls in the world. A gentleman once prominently connected with the church gave some advice about turning the right cheek when the left one was slapped, and when the way that advice sounds we think he would today say that had Bob should have all the rope he wants, as it is probable he will finally hang himself high as Haman in his opposition to religion. Those so-called Christians who are so warmly opposed to the discussion of religion from any standpoint, should remember what Gamaliel said about it: "Let them alone. If it is of man it shall come to naught, but if it is of God then you can prevail against it." The Christian religion is as of God now as it was in the days of Gamaliel, and if it is true then all the power in the world cannot subvert it.

MR. MILTON YOUNG, of Henderson, has won fifty-five races, netting $87,485 during the season just closed. He will start out next year with a better string than last, and thinks he will do even better than heretofore.

A SHELBY COUNTY man offers a premium for autumnal poetry. If he lived in this section and were an editor he would offer a premium to the man who would rid him of it, and a lifetime annuity to the man who would kill all the poets.

MR. E. H. PORTER, of Bowling Green, has sold a half interest in his paper, the Gazette, to Mr. T. G. Boley. Mr. Boley is represented as being a first-class business man, and the Gazette will doubtless continue its march upward.

BEN BUTLER says adverse public opinion would prevent him from acting as counsel for Guitau, even did his other engagements permit. If that is his reason, we do not see how he gets on at all, as there is a sufficient amount of public opinion which is, in a general way, adverse to him to deter him from anything.

WE have a little advertising space to spare but do not propose to trade it off for old stoves, cheap chronos, patent chairs, second-hand sewing machines, etc. Frequently we receive propositions for advertising, payment for which is to be taken in the worthless wares of the would-be advertiser, but all such are promptly and forcibly declined, and those persons who offer them had better keep their postage. A fair price, and that in cash, is what we want for our advertising space. We don't want to work and take pay in "truck and trade," and it is useless to ask us to do such a thing.

THE National Woman's Suffrage Convention met in Louisville last week. Delegates from all parts of the country were present, and the meeting was characterized by the city press as harmonious and sensible, and that it was not what was expected of a convention of "strong-minded women." On the other hand, some of them were spoken of as being positively very sweet. We are of the opinion that when the suffragists and their wants are known they will be looked on with very much more favor, and it is destined to become a question of even more importance than now, so much so, in fact, that it cannot be thrust aside as it has been in the past. The Louisville convention gave a reason for wanting the ballot that it would serve as a lever in overturning the liquor traffic of the United States and in the purification of the civil service.

THE expenditures of the National Government on pensions is enormous. Last year $50,000,000 were appropriated and that sum did not pay up by $20,000,000. The Commissioner of Pensions has made his estimate and has decided to ask for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for the year 1882. It appears to us that as all, or most all, of the children of those who were killed in the war are beyond the pension age, and that vast numbers of the widows of deceased soldiers have died or married, as also have many wounded soldiers died, the list should by this time begin to decrease, and the expenses to grow very much smaller. This is not the case, however, and it seems that there is room to suspect a great amount of crookedness in the pension bureau. Some of the investigating committees should be turned into this field, as we are confident they would find some rich grazing.

THE investigation in regard to the official conduct of John Sherman & Co. while Mr. Sherman was Secretary of the Treasury, will at last amount to nothing. The charges have been referred to a Senate investigating committee, and last week Mr. Sherman, who is now in the Senate, brought in a bill to provide for an investigation. Into all the expenditures of the contingent fund of the Treasury since 1871. This will reach from the latter part of Grant's first term, on through his second and through Hayes' administration, and on up to the present. The committee that is to sit during the recess of the Senate will proceed at once with the investigation and will have so much work before it gets to Sherman's record that it will become thoroughly exhausted and the investigation will be abandoned without ever touching the case for which it was instituted. The bill brings in all the Departments for their share in the general overhauling, and the people as well as the committee will get pretty tired of the business.

COL. FRANK WOOLFORD, of war memory, is a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The Interior Journal, speaking of a speech made by him at Stanford last week, says:

"He gave an interesting narrative of his record in the late war—how he raised troops for it and fought, believing the war was only for the perpetuation of the Union, and not to deprive the Southern people of their rights of person and property; how, after wounds that almost entirely disabled him, he returned home and was appointed State elector on the McClellan ticket; how he was arrested for denouncing the unconstitutional policy of President Lincoln and placed in prison; how he refused to accept any terms of release except consistent with his honor, and of his final release unconditionally and the subsequent offer of a Major Generalship. He was listened to with marked respect, and when he got to the point of asking the country's support for the office he sought a cheer went up, which told how highly the old war-horse is held in the estimation of our people. Gen. Woolford has done more than any other man in Kentucky for the rights of free speech and a free press, and the people owe him a debt of gratitude that can hardly be repaid. His efforts in behalf of the Southern soldiers after the war entitle him to the everlasting love of those who fought for the Lost Cause, and the remnant of them here are not insensitive to his claims."

A MR. TATE, an attorney of Chicago, has volunteered to assist in the defense of Guitau.

THE United States Senate adjourned last Saturday to meet in regular session in December.

"TIME is money!" We know a number of men who would like to raise $1000 each on time and consider it paid off on the hypothesis that time is money.

THE increasing prevalence of small-pox in the large cities is the occasion of considerable alarm, and steps are being taken to secure the vaccination of the inhabitants.

BEECHER has resigned the editorial control of the Christian Union, of New York. He is succeeded by Rev. Lyman Abbott, who has long been associated with the paper.

THE Frankfort Yonatan says the Monarch Kites, of Owensboro, presented the best showing among the Kentucky troops. This is quite a compliment to the boys.

FOXHALL, the noted Kentucky horse, continues to surprise the "biassed Brits" by winning all the stakes for which he tries. England cannot handle us in anything.

THE Elizabethtown News has done what it should have done long ago. It has dropped its patent outside and is now all printed at home. The News is one of the best papers in the State.

THE Standard should not get so blue-mad about a little thing. We did fail to read one issue of the paper, but it was because the exchange failed was around. We saw the paper at mail-time and that was all. It didn't make a world of difference anyway.

It is a source of wonder to us as to what the pictorial papers will do now that David Davis has got off the fence. It would hardly do to represent him as being on the ground now, as the Democrats wouldn't care to see him on the other side the fence.

IN New York, Indiana and Ohio they have what they call "barls" in political campaigns. In Virginia they have "barls" too. The first are of money and the last of gunpowder, which is used in quantities to suit the duelist-politicians of the State.

ON our recent visit to Lexington, Ky., we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Thomas J. Henry, of Morgan county, one of the numerous Democratic candidates for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. He is a genial gentleman and well qualified for the position to which he aspires.

EFFORTS are being made by the Stalwarts to remove Mrs. Virginia Thompson, postmistress at Louisville. Mrs. Thompson has made a very efficient officer, and the city and the service would certainly not be profited by her removal.

HON. FRANK HATTON, of Iowa, has been made First Assistant Postmaster General to succeed Tyler, who was removed a few days since. He was originally an Ohio man and is a strict Stalwart, having been for Conkling in 1870, and enthusiastically for Grant in 1880. The Republican papers speak very highly of him.

ALL the railroads in the State except the Paducah & Elizabethtown road have adopted the three-cent rate for passengers. The P. & E. is the only road now running into Louisville that charges five cents per mile. It is the opinion of the Railroad Commission that the roads will make more money now than they did at the old rate. There will certainly be more traveling.

WARREN MEMORIAL CHURCH, corner of Fourth and Broadway, Louisville, which was erected in 1878 at a cost of $135,000, was destroyed by fire last Friday night. The building, organ and furniture were a total loss. Insurance $50,000. Cause of the fire unknown, as no fire, even a light, had been used about the building since the Sunday previous.

TO THE satisfaction of the entire country President Arthur has appointed Mr. James as Postmaster-General. James by his policy showed Garfield's wisdom in appointing and Arthur, by retaining, has chosen his own. The Star-route thieves may now look out, as James would not consent to stay in the Cabinet until Arthur had promised him every assistance in his power.

A COMMON road was found last week in a cavity in a white walnut tree in Garrard county. It was about 25 feet from the ground and in a place which had evidently been closed for twenty-five years. The animal could not hop. When he was liberated he winked, as much as to say "I don't care if I do." The gentleman who captured him has preserved him and he is now on exhibition.

THE Yonatan is in favor of the Democrats unseating David Davis as often as they have a majority to do so. It says: "It will, however, be nothing more than fair to the Democrats of the senate to vote Mr. Davis out, and Mr. Bayard in upon every occasion when there happens to be a majority of Democratic Senators on the floor. Indeed, we think this would be nothing more than just to Mr. Bayard and to the country. It might, and doubtless will, happen that the Democrats will be in the majority on some occasions, and we would like them to require the ponderous David Davis to climb down. He has been unjustly seated, and it will be justice to remove him upon every occasion."

Rights of Women.

The National Convention of the American Woman's Suffrage Association, which met in Louisville last week, made out the following "Bill of Rights": The American Woman Suffrage Association bases its demand for equal, legal and political rights for woman on the principles of the Declaration of Independence, viz:

"Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"Taxation without a representation is tyranny"—women are taxed.

"Political power inheres in the people"—women are people.

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States are citizens thereof." Therefore, resolved, That a government of the people, by the people, for the people, must be a government composed equally of men and women; that the equal cooperation of the sexes is essential alike to a happy home, a refined society, a Christian church, and a state truly democratic.

Our Jury System.

The origin of the trial by jury, though so often searched for, has always, like the will-o'-the-wisp that it is, eluded the grasp of the most assiduous wisepates and knowledge seekers, and from its very nature must ever remain enveloped in the obscurity with which it is today invested. As far back as Anglo-Saxon history goes, can be found traces of trial in this manner, although it was subject to variations to suit such particular cases, as in some instances the number of jurymen would be as great as one hundred, or even more, and then sometimes not more than twelve. Sometimes they were chosen, as at present, because they knew nothing of the case, but rarely, as they sometimes are now, because they knew nothing at all, and sometimes only actual witnesses of the facts were chosen or allowed as jurors. At first the juries were selected from among the nobility, or thanes, as they were then styled, and they were of the most intelligent class—well versed in common usage and law, and well as of the facts in a case. Progress then as now, was the rule of action, and although they progressed as we sometimes, and crawl always, do, go forward by going backward, it was progress, nevertheless, when they took the exclusive jury privilege from the thanes, or lords, and gave a portion of it to the commons, or farmers. It might have been progress, but the progressists themselves were at first dubious of the advisability of making the commons jurors. Objections were over-ruled and the commons were made eligible as jurymen, and the number of jurymen, which had by this time been settled at twelve, was decreased to seven, as one thane was still obliged to sit on the jury, and one thane was reckoned as equal to six commons. Finally, it was concluded that the commons knew as much about the jury business as anybody, and the thane was dropped and the six commons substituted in his place. But here arose a trouble they had not thought of, and which exists to this day. The juries up to that time had been judges of the law, and the poor commons found that they knew nothing of law and consequently could do nothing with the satisfaction of knowing that it was wholly, or even partially, right. Nothing remained for them to do but to get in some one who did know something about the law, and the thanes were the only persons who, as learning was at quite a low ebb among the lower classes. Then the idea struck the commons that the thane, as he was different in every other respect, should not sit with the actual jury, but should act as judge in all points of law, while the commons themselves passed upon all questions of fact.

From this crude beginning our present judicial and jury system was evolved, and as far as the jury is concerned the Anglo-Saxon crudeness has not been much improved on if the design of a jury system is to subserve the ends of justice, which is now conceded by most people who desire to be on the popular side of the question.

But why is the advocacy of the perpetuation of the jury system the popular side of a question? Because it has been in use so long. It is like a man who many years ago lived about thirty miles from Bardonia, in this State. When a boy he went to Bardonia quite often in company with his father by a road that was thirty-five miles. His father died and a new road was made which was five miles shorter. He, however, continued to travel the old road, which was much worse as well as longer than the new. One day a friend asked him why he did it and told him what the difference was. "What?" said he; "ask me to quit the road my father traveled? No, sir. It is good enough for me." And he always traveled the old road. Our fathers were tried by jury and we must be tried the same way.

The generally accepted idea of a petit jury is easily enough understood. It must consist of twelve men who are judges of the fact, and who have never formed or expressed an opinion upon the case in hand, and who must come to a unanimous agreement, but when it comes to the practical work they very often constitute themselves judges of the law as well, and as they know as little of the law as they are required and allowed to previously know of the facts, which is absolutely nothing, they make fine work of it. Criminals guilty of the blackest crimes, and that where the evidence is conclusive, are every day turned loose on society as living monuments of the ability of juries to judge law and fact, or rather of their lack of ability to judge anything, and yet the jury system is called by those lawyers who are anxious to have the decision in their favor, "the palladium of our liberties." A sweet thing, "palladium," when often its custodian, the juror, cannot write his name!

Good times and lots of fun up here. People are doing a staying business. Mr. L. Barrett of the Herald, paid us a visit one day last week. He was here in the interest of the Fire Association of Philadelphia, and met with good success. We were all glad to see Mr. B., and truly hope that he will call again soon and stay longer. On several attempts were made last week to burn out a house of ill repute which stands in the most prominent portion of our moral little town. I am sorry to state that this place is inhabited by such people, but it is the simple truth, and if it is not cleaned out right soon Rosine will certainly experience quite a loss in trade, as our best citizens say they will not allow their wives and daughters to come here and be insulted on the streets.

The Doctors Disagree.

as to the best methods and remedies for the cure of constipation and disordered liver and kidneys. But those that have used Kidney-Wort agree that it is by far the best medicine known. Its action is prompt, thorough and lasting.

We once heard or read an anecdote of a famous Kentucky lawyer who was a member of the church and a predestinarian. He was vexed and perplexed by the decisions of juries and sometimes gave expression to his thoughts even when the verdict was in his favor. He had been engaged in prosecuting a man for some offense and had a clear case against him, but the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," and the prisoner was released, which to the surprise of every one who heard the evidence. A day or two after, in a company in which were two or three of the late jurymen, he, with some others of like belief, were discussing his favorite doctrine of predestination. Said he: "There is one limit to the foreknowledge of God." "How is that?" exclaimed one of his friends who had often heard him say that he believed it to be unlimited. "He can't tell anything about what the verdict of a petit jury will be!" exclaimed he, and the audience burst into roars of laughter. And it is about that way in all cases. No matter what the evidence is it is extremely doubtful if God himself could tell beforehand what the verdict will be.

The inquisitorial grand jury is a snail's pace on the fair name of a free country and savors more of the Spanish Inquisition and racks of the inquisition than anything else. Formerly, the commonwealth's attorney upon the affidavit of a witness brought in and before to tell what he knew, which in many cases happens to be just what he did not know, which, however, was about as well, made out an indictment, and the foreman, after examination by the jury if there was sufficient evidence to warrant the conclusion, wrote on the back of the indictment "a true bill." If there was not he would write upon the back the word "ignoramus," which was taken to mean that the bill was ignored, but which was often in reality the worthy foreman's signature for his fellow-jurors. The status of many juries of the present is not an improvement, and ignoramus would still be an autograph if written upon the back of a bill.

Any deficiency, however, is not the fault of the system alone. In general it is our candid opinion that as far as its intentions and purposes are fulfilled it is a flat failure, as of late it has become next to impossible to have a criminal brought to justice through the instrumentality of a jury. In detail, however, and in theory there are some good points in it. The fault lies partially with the court, the officers and the bar, and lastly, with the individuals composing the jury. Until more care is exercised in the selection of juries, and until the juries themselves come to regard their duty to their country in a higher, better and truer light we cannot expect justice to be meted out as justice should be to rich and poor and all classes alike, and until the whole people are educated up to the standard of making intelligent jurymen, it would be vastly better for the peace and dignity of the land were every trace of the system wiped from the land and the statutes thereof.

It is now our opinion that Guitau will not be convicted of the murder of President Garfield, but that the worst that can be done with him will be to confine him in an asylum for life, or at least for a term of years. There are several loopholes in the case through which is the opinion of the best legal talent that he may creep back to life, and we may rest assured that his crafty counsel has not failed to discover them. Of course, the defense will be insanity, and on account of his past record it will be hard indeed to convict him or to hold him to accountability for his great crime. Let us suppose that the court at Washington does convict him. What of it? Nothing save that the verdict of the jury will be set aside and the prisoner actually made a free man. How this can be done may not be apparent on first view, but it can and will be done. Scoville has tacitly conceded that the Washington court has jurisdiction and the trial will be begun on the 14th inst. He may be convicted, and many think that it is the wish of his attorney that he may be. If he is, then he will be taken out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus, and the question as to whether the court by which he was convicted had the right to try him will be investigated. This question will almost doubtless be decided in the negative. New Jersey will then take up the case, and here again comes in a technicality. No man may be twice placed in jeopardy for the same offense, and consequently New Jersey will be powerless to touch him and the arch-fiend of the age will be turned loose, another monument to the majesty of the law and the industry and shrewdness of the minions thereof. There is a very general sentiment that the life of the murderer should be taken as a partial expiation of his awful crime, but there is no way now known to avoid the technicality which will free him unless the prosecuting attorney requires the question of jurisdiction to be finally settled before the trial begins, which if he is a man of ordinary parts he will do.

Rosine Knocked.

Good times and lots of fun up here. People are doing a staying business. Mr. L. Barrett of the Herald, paid us a visit one day last week. On several attempts were made last week to burn out a house of ill repute which stands in the most prominent portion of our moral little town. I am sorry to state that this place is inhabited by such people, but it is the simple truth, and if it is not cleaned out right soon Rosine will certainly experience quite a loss in trade, as our best citizens say they will not allow their wives and daughters to come here and be insulted on the streets.

Don't take pills, and other mercurials that poison the system, but by using Kidney-Wort restore the natural action of all the organs.—New Cincinnati.

Haycraft has his say.

LETTERS, KY., Oct. 27th, '81.

On looking over your paper last week, I saw several very grave errors in regard to the individuals, etc., brought against me while I lived in your county, and I wish, if you please, that you would examine the records in the Clerk's office and see that you are mistaken. The truth is that there has never been more than one indictment against me in Ohio county up to this time. I shall expect you to correct the mistake in your next week's paper, and if you do not you may expect to hear from me again.

Please correct the mistake, and oblige

JOHN S. HAYCRAFT.

Almost Young Again.

My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy, inactive condition of the whole system; headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. No physicians or medicines did her any good. Three months ago she began to use Hop Bitters, with such good effect that she seems and feels young again, although over 70 years old. We think there is no other medicine fit to use in the family. A lady in Providence, R. I.—Journal.

Neely City and Surroundings.

Editor Herald:

The farmers in this section are done cutting tobacco, and they say that it is curing up very badly. As a general thing it is very dark, though some few crops have date value.

What sowing is over with and is looking fine for the age. The farmers say that it came up this year quicker than was ever known. Prospects bid fair to make a good crop next year.

Molasses making has begun. Mr. Tom Miller made up his crop of cane last week, and reports a very bad turnout. Mr. William Patterson will be the next to make. They have an evaporator in partnership that will almost make molasses without help.

This finds the health of the community very good. There are one or two cases of chills.

Mr. Nicholas Schultz is in a very precarious condition at this writing. I have not learned the cause. He was taken last Monday morning.

Old Uncle Kilby Joe Hocker and wife were called to try the realities of an unknown world last week. From what I can learn they were poisoned accidentally. She had put arsenic in one cup and sold in another, and being in a hurry, she got hold of the wrong cup, which soon wound up their earthly career.

Quite a serious scene was witnessed by some of the family of Mr. Dock Hocker on the 24th. A young man by the name of Columbus Dovel had got a little too much tangled up on board, and was called to try the realities of an unknown world last week. From what I can learn they were poisoned accidentally. She had put arsenic in one cup and sold in another, and being in a hurry, she got hold of the wrong cup, which soon wound up their earthly career.

It is now our opinion that Guitau will not be convicted of the murder of President Garfield, but that the worst that can be done with him will be to confine him in an asylum for life, or at least for a term of years. There are several loopholes in the case through which is the opinion of the best legal talent that he may creep back to life, and we may rest assured that his crafty counsel has not failed to discover them. Of course, the defense will be insanity, and on account of his past record it will be hard indeed to convict him or to hold him to accountability for his great crime. Let us suppose that the court at Washington does convict him. What of it? Nothing save that the verdict of the jury will be set aside and the prisoner actually made a free man. How this can be done may not be apparent on first view, but it can and will be done. Scoville has tacitly conceded that the Washington court has jurisdiction and the trial will be begun on the 14th inst. He may be convicted, and many think that it is the wish of his attorney that he may be. If he is, then he will be taken out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus, and the question as to whether the court by which he was convicted had the right to try him will be investigated. This question will almost doubtless be decided in the negative. New Jersey will then take up the case, and here again comes in a technicality. No man may be twice placed in jeopardy for the same offense, and consequently New Jersey will be powerless to touch him and the arch-fiend of the age will be turned loose, another monument to the majesty of the law and the industry and shrewdness of the minions thereof. There is a very general sentiment that the life of the murderer should be taken as a partial expiation of his awful crime, but there is no way now known to avoid the technicality which will free him unless the prosecuting attorney requires the question of jurisdiction to be finally settled before the trial begins, which if he is a man of ordinary parts he will do.

PERSONAL.

Misses Mollie and Fidelity Hayden returned from the Calhoun fair last week.
Miss Nannie Alexander returned home from Calhoun and Evansville last week.
Mrs. John B. Rowan, who has been very ill with erysipelas for two weeks, is improving.
Mr. Cyrus W. Gates, editor of the McLean Progress, was in town a day or two last week.

Miss Kate Hardwick returned last week from Calhoun, where she had been attending the fair.

Mrs. Ella Gilpatrick, of Boston, Massachusetts, is visiting her uncle, Mr. W. H. Williams, of this place.

Mrs. W. T. King was summoned to the bedside of her sick brother, Mr. Mat Nichols, of Calhoun, last week.

Miss Sallie McDaniel, who has been sick for some weeks past, is now thought to be on the road to health.

Dr. Pendleton was called last week to attend on Mr. Mat Nichols, of Calhoun, who is quite low with abscess of the liver.

Mr. G. W. Gates, Secretary of the Calhoun Fair Company and a rising young lawyer of that place, was in Hartford last week.

Little Lizzie, a seven years old daughter of Capt. S. E. Hill, has suffered from an attack of diphtheria for ten days past. She is now recovering.

Mr. John Midkiff, of this place, returned from a visit to Calhoun last week. He was accompanied home by his granddaughter, Miss Bettie Hale.

Miss Eddie Robinson, who has been visiting the family of Mr. G. B. Williams for several weeks past, returned to her home in Big Spring yesterday evening.

Rev. J. S. McDaniel and son Cromie left yesterday for Munfordsville to take charge of his new field of labor. His wife and daughter, Miss Sallie, will remain until next week.

Our young friend, Anthony Robertson, representing Sol. Wile & Son, Owensboro, was visiting friends and relatives in Ohio county this week. We had the pleasure of a call from him while in town.

Rev. J. S. McDaniel, who has been on the Hartford circuit for two years past, was appointed by the last Conference, which met in Owensboro recently, to the Munfordsville circuit. He will move in a few days.

Mr. James Cate, of Rumsey, proprietor of the famous Rumsey woolen mills, was in town yesterday. He was here to examine and replenish the stock of Cate's jeans at Anderson's Bazaar. We understand that he received quite a large order from it while here.

Frank Smith, who was shot by Haycraft during the fair, is recovering.

W. H. Hall, of Owensboro, was in town a day or two this week.

Our friend, J. M. Lawrence, until recently station agent at Big Clifty, Ky., has accepted the position of baggage-master on the P. & E. railroad. He is a faithful and efficient railroad man and will no doubt fill the position acceptably.

Now dig turnips.

Ball's Digestive Salt (patented) is a combination of Pure Pepsin and best English Salt, invaluable to all those who suffer from dyspeptic tendencies, of which it is the only certain cure. See advertisement.

A lady remarked she "could eat anything she wished and was freed from any distress after eating," by merely using Ball's Digestive Salt with meals, instead of ordinary table salt. 25 cents will get it. See advertisement.

We have much pleasure in recommending Therma-line to our readers as an absolute cure for malaria. The manufacturer's name alone is a guarantee of its merit. It sells at 25 cents per box. For particulars see advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, Hartford, Ky.

The medicines of Dundas Dick & Co. are unequalled for elegance, purity, and reliability. Their Sedilite Sedilite Powders are as pleasant as lemonade. See advertisement. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, druggists, Hartford, Ky.

Andrew Williams and E. R. Ashby are sole agents for Kentucky for the Harris & Smith Self-extinguishing Non-explosive Safety Lamp. Andrew Williams will canvass the eastern portion and E. R. Ashby the western portion of the State. For territory or county rights address them at Hartford, Ky.

When thinking of visiting Louisville there should be one thing made up in your mind, and that is that you will stop at the Standford Hotel. Everything is new and nice about the house, and is kept in the best of order. No better table is set anywhere; no better and more polite attendants can be found anywhere, and the fare is only $2 per day. Be sure to go to the Standford.

Mr. E. R. Murrell moved last week to the building vacated by Mrs. Lucy Edson.

Born, to the wife of Zila O. King, Louisville, Ky., on Monday night October 17th, 1881, a boy. Shake, Zila, shake.

The old lamp in front of Anderson's Bazaar has been taken down and will be replaced by a magnificent new one this week.

Mat Nichols, of Calhoun, is lying quite sick at his residence. We hope that kind providence may restore him to health again.

Josiah Madrox, an esteemed citizen of this county, and who lives near McHenry, is very sick, and at this writing is not expected to recover.

Kearney Bowman, who was arrested several days ago for gambling, was taken before Judge Newton last Thursday, and after trial, was released.

How can a single dose of Ayer's Pills cure headache? By removing obstructions from the system—relieving the stomach and giving healthy action to the digestive apparatus.

The doctors said my wife had consumption. Tried "Lindsey's Blood Searcher," and she has better health than ever." G. H. Hubbard, Hampden, Ohio.

Every man should have a pair of Stark's water-proof boots. Keep your feet dry during the winter and save a doctor's bill in the spring. You can get them at Anderson's Bazaar.

Rev. R. C. Alexander, the newly appointed minister on this circuit, preached his first sermon on his new charge at this place last Sunday and Sunday night. Large audiences greeted him on both occasions, and he created an impression altogether favorable.

It is impossible for a woman after a faithful course of treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, to continue to suffer with a weakness of the uterus. Enclose a stamp to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 283 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for her pamphlet.

Sufferers from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc., have only to use Ball's Digestive Salt at table instead of ordinary salt, to be freed from all such tendencies, and to enjoy their food. 25 cents will get it. See advertisement.

Old Jack Spratt could eat no fat and his wife could eat no lean, but between the two they saved enough money for the "old man" to buy a new fall suit from J. Winter & Co., corner of Third and Market streets, Louisville, Ky., which is the place to buy your or your son's clothing.

Republican City, Neb., March 31, 1880.—I tried your Kendall's Spavin Cure, and it had the desired effect. It cured the spavin, which other treatments failed to do. I did not use quite one bottle of your liniment. After the spavin was removed I drove the horse and his mate over 500 miles—from Linn county, Iowa, to Harlan county, Neb., with a load of 2,000 pounds, and made the trip in four weeks. Please send me your "Treatise on the Horse."

Yours truly, JAMES YELLENIC.

The latest thing in the lightening-ard art comes from Cromwell district. There lives near Cromwell a gentleman named among his neighbors for his thieving propensities, although he always manages to keep out of the reach of the law. How he has done this was a mystery until recently, when a pair of horse's hoofs made of poplar wood were found on his premises. The imitation was exact, and they were made fast to a pair of shoes which were slipped on whenever the owner committed to go on one of his pilfering peregrinations, and the tracks made by him were of course those of a horse, and it was impossible to get a clue to any of the numerous thefts committed until the strange shoes were found by the spring of the gentleman above alluded to. The gentleman who informed us of the discovery has promised to make us a present of the hoofs, which we shall add to our museum.

—The foliage in and around town is beginning to wear beautiful and lovely hues.

—Go to the water mill and buy as good, if not better, flour at $4.20 per 100 pounds and save 50 cents.

—You should examine the great bargains in dress goods at Anderson's Bazaar before they are all gone.

—Fresh candies, pickles, preserves, jellies, cheese, crackers, and all kinds of canned goods at Mrs. L. H. Edson's.

—The best preventive of consumptive diseases of the lungs, bowels or kidneys is Brown's Iron Bitters. It checks all decay.

—The immense quantities of boots sold by Anderson's Bazaar means something. It must mean that they are selling them cheaper than other houses.

—What every one says must be true, that "Dr. Sells' Cough Syrup" has no equal for coughs and colds. Try it. Price 25 cents.

—It is the strangest thing in the world that men will buy Eastern boots when they can get custom-made goods at Anderson's Bazaar.

—80 cents saved is that much made. You save this much on each 100 pounds of flour you get at the Water Mill, and get fully as good, if not better quality. Try it and see.

—Why pay five cents per pound for flour when you can get the best quality of choice family flour at $4.20 per 100 pounds at the water mill of Jno. R. and Wm. Phillips?

—While in Rockport, Monday, we were the guests of mine host Jacob Anthony, of the Green River Hotel, and complimented the culinary department by partaking of a good square meal.

While in Rockport, Monday, we met our county assessor, Mr. Luther Duke. He invited us to a sumptuous dinner at the Duke House, but, having just accepted a similar invitation, we had to decline with regrets.

—Mr. James A. Weatherford, of Springfield, Ohio, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of the worst case of dyspepsia man ever had. The muscles of my stomach, liver and bowels now seem so strong I believe I could eat almost anything I pleased. I recommend it to all who suffer as did I."

—The Minnards of town are having considerable success in hunting. Messrs. Clarence Hardwick and Jerry Williams were out one day last week and killed two turkeys and a large number of squirrels. The next day Messrs. Ellis Thomas and Dick Williams went out and killed two turkeys and several squirrels. Quail hunting is also good.

—Thanks to the good people of Hartford who kindly gave a mile to the Primary Department last session, as we had only ten dollars—not enough to buy a carpet. We have bought nice shagreen for our windows and invite you to come to see them.

Respectfully,
THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

A card from John S. Haycraft appears elsewhere contradicting the report that there have been five indictments made out against him in this county in the past. It was currently reported that such was the fact, and we published it accordingly, but on examination we find, as he says, that there is but one. That one was for disturbing public worship, and was dismissed.

—Mr. John W. Mahian, of Rockport, has been appointed traveling salesman for the Goodrich sewing machine. Mr. Mahian has been selling this machine to citizens of our county for some time, and his success has caused his promotion. He will sell to the trade, establish agencies, etc. The Goodrich is a good rich machine and gives satisfaction. Each machine is warranted for five years.

—There is no doubt that Cate's goods are the best for the money ever offered to the public. Any person certainly act very unwisely in buying any other goods when they can get Cate's at the same price. A big lot of jeans, yarns, blankets, flannels and skirts will be received next week at Anderson's Bazaar. This is the only house handling these goods in this county, and they do it on the shortest kind of profits, the reputation these goods give the house being a sufficient remuneration.

—E. F. Forbes, undertaker at Forsville, has just finished a painting of the grave of little Edgar Wilson. The painting is on paper and executed with water colors. The painting represents other graves in the Jones' graveyard, and in the distance is seen a portion of Clark's mountain. Mr. Forbes has a book of portraits he has painted from Washington, at the age of 40, to Capt. George P. Ryan, of the U. S. Navy, who was drowned November 24, 1877; also the Battle of Shiloh, Death of Gabriel McDonald, Napoleon, Prince Napoleon, Thomas H. Benton, Louis Kosuth, Rev. William Hickman, and a humorous military painting entitled, "Sol, are you much hurt, or only broke of your night's rest?" Two of his paintings are in Hartford: the portrait of Gen. Dix, owned by W. C. Morton, and the portrait of Capt. Peter A. Howard, owned by Capt. S. K. Cox. Some of our citizens will remember Mr. Forbes many years ago as the boy artist of Hartford.

—We had the pleasure of a visit to Rockport Monday last and find the citizens of this little burg wide-awake and fully so.

Trade seemed to be very good. Headley's, James' and Young's stores were all doing a good trade. Rockport is one of the best towns in the county or Green river country.

—One of the main pillars of the bridge across Rouch creek at this place broke last week and crossing on it now is attended with danger, especially to heavily-loaded wagons, etc. The attention of the County Court is called to the condition of the bridge, and while it is under consideration we think it would be proper to canvass the advisability of erecting an iron bridge. Already has enough money been paid out on the present bridge to build two iron ones, and if a new wooden bridge is built in place of the old one we may expect it to be like the old one, a continued drain on the county for repairs.

—We visited the thriving little village of Rosine last Saturday in the interest of the HERALD fire insurance, &c. We were the guest of the Van Nort House while there. Rosine is one of the liveliest places of its size on the P. & E. road. Saw logs, staves, heading, spikes, ax-handles, flour, and in fact, almost anything the market wants shipped from this point. The citizens of Rosine are moral, religious and refined. We cannot close without speaking of the Rosine Flouring Mills, owned and conducted by J. W. Lewis & Sons (Thomas and H. W.). This is an enterprise that any town should be proud of.

—Some of the bad boys of town got on a rampage Monday night and tore things up in a general manner. The wheels were taken off of Vaughn's express wagon and carried almost out of town, a wounded owl was put into Pendleton's law office, and a few other little acts of meanness were perpetrated. One night last week the pump in front of Anderson's Bazaar was sawed in two and a very great inconvenience to citizens and others was the result. It is a pity that these marauders cannot be caught up with, and we should be happy to take up some of the morning and find the culprits in the police court. They may rest assured if they are ever detected that they will be dealt with according to law.

—The Popular Demand.

So great has been the popular demand for the celebrated remedy, KIDNEY-WORT, that it is having an immense sale from Maine to California. Some have found it inconvenient to prepare it from the dry compound; for such the proprietors now prepare it in liquid form. This can be procured at the druggists. It has precisely the same effect as the dry, but is very concentrated so that the dose is much smaller.—Lancet Mail.

—While in Rockport, Monday, we were the guests of mine host Jacob Anthony, of the Green River Hotel, and complimented the culinary department by partaking of a good square meal.

—Mr. James A. Weatherford, of Springfield, Ohio, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of the worst case of dyspepsia man ever had. The muscles of my stomach, liver and bowels now seem so strong I believe I could eat almost anything I pleased. I recommend it to all who suffer as did I."

Anybody to Rise.

"There's plenty of room up stairs," as Daniel Webster said to the young lawyer anxious to rise, but no need to injure himself either in climbing the stairs of fame or those of his own house or business place. The following is to the point: Mr. John A. Hutchinson, Superintendent Downer's Kerosene Oil Works, Boston, Mass., writes: Mr. Patton, one of our foremen, in walking up stairs last week sprained his leg badly. I gave him a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil to try. He used it and an almost instantaneous cure was effected.—La Fayette Daily Journal.

Claytonian Society.

The Claytonians assembled in College Hall on Friday night, October 28th, 1881, without a single member being absent. Each anxious to be victorious in the impending conflict, which was to decide the question: "Resolved, That the Indians were justly driven from the soil." B. D. Rings was captain on the affirmative and E. M. Hackett on the negative. The debate was short and lively, but it lasted long enough for E. M. Hackett to lead his colleagues to victory.

This was the meeting for the election of officers, and every one who ever belonged to a debating society knows that this is the time for a great deal of fun. We never saw more interest taken in an election, and when all was over and the votes counted, the result was: W. J. Dulin, President.

R. A. Stowers, Vice President.
J. C. O'Donnell, Secretary.
J. J. McHenry, Treasurer.
B. D. Rings, Prosecuting Attorney.
J. S. Glenn, Marshal.
J. B. Horn, Door-keeper.

Get out Door.

The close confinement of all factory work gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physical and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters—the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rye checks in them. They cost but a trifle.—Christian Recorder.

825 Reward!

I will pay $25.00 reward for the arrest and delivery of Wm. Lloyd to the jailer of Grayson county at Litchfield.

JOHN A. RANKINS.

Marriage Licenses.

Only two licenses have been issued since our last report:

W. H. Westerfield and Nancy Stewart.
Frank Turner and Mary Whitaker.

Be of Good Cheer.

There is one remedy which has proved itself to be a priceless boon and a true friend to suffering humanity. It has saved thousands of nervous, debilitated, headache-prone, and lives of usefulness and the full enjoyment of robust health. If you are weak, nervous and debilitated, or suffer from indigestion and dyspepsia, you make a serious mistake and do yourself great injustice if you fail to try this excellent medicine. You will find it a perfect panacea for all your troubles. In a few weeks time your shattered nervous system will be restored to its natural and healthful condition, all symptoms of dyspepsia and indigestion disappear, and the possibility of paralysis, apoplexy, and other disorders that lead to sudden death, will be removed forever. This meritorious compound is a preparation of iron and essential vegetable tonics. It is the only preparation of iron that does not give headache or blacken the teeth. It is called Brown's Iron Bitters. Demand it of your druggist, and take no substitute. It will give the greatest satisfaction for its effects are lasting, and not temporary, as is the case with alcoholic preparations. Brown's Iron Bitters contain no alcohol.—Enquirer.

A Grand Book.

Is the "LIFE AND WORK OF GARFIELD," embracing an account of his struggles in childhood, his career as a soldier; his success as a statesman; his elevation to the Presidency and his dastardly assassination; by John Clark Ridpath, the well-known historiographer, and published by Jones Brothers & Co., Cincinnati, Chicago, Philadelphia and Kansas City. This is a reliable work by the first historical writer of the day, and a copy of it should be in the house of every reading man in the United States.

The firm of Jones Brothers & Co. is one of the largest publishing houses in the country, and the mere fact that they publish the book is a guarantee that it is valuable. They advertise for agents in this issue of the HERALD, and some live man can make a good thing by taking the agency of the Garfield book while it is new.

Attention!

I must again request all persons indebted to me to give me a settlement of their accounts. I am in need of money, and unless attention is given this, I will be compelled to take more urgent measures. C. M. Pendleton has charge of my books.

Respectfully,
JOHN E. PENDLETON.

A RARE CHANCE FOR AGENTS.

The Great Kentucky Invention

Reid's Flexible Churning Machine

DENTIST.

Dr. Deeder, dentist, is at the Hartford House prepared to do all kinds of dental work. Artificial teeth a specialty. Silver, gold and white fillings from $1 up. Old plates repaired. Teeth extracted without the use of gas or chloroform—a new process. Will go to residence on notice. Dr. Deeder is assisted by Dr. F. C. Sadler. Have your work done at once.

—The unprecedentedly late fall will go far to lighten the consumption of feed during the coming winter, as the pastures which usually give out long before this time, are now in full verdure and seem likely to continue so for several weeks yet. This is a great boon to the farmers of the county, as many would be reduced to extremities during the winter if the feeding season had commenced at the usual time.

Monthly Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture, Horticulture and Forestry.

Sickness is the excuse for not having issued my monthly report at an earlier date.

Wheat—With the exception of a few counties in southwestern Kentucky, there is being sown a larger breadth of wheat than last year. In these exceptional localities, the breadth sown has been somewhat diminished on account of the scarcity and high price of seed. The ground is universally reported to be in the finest possible condition, and the crop as a general thing will have been gotten in early. The prospect at this writing could not be more flattering for a good crop. In many of the early sown fields the growth is luxuriant, in many cases the wheat being at almost to the point of branching. In all such cases it should be kept back by grazing. The fall has been so warm and reasonable that it has made its appearance in some instances amongst the early sown wheat. The best remedy for this is prompt and close grazing. The Department at Washington, under its present management, is generous towards the State Departments. Some three or four hundred packages of wheat and winter oats have been sent to this office from that Department for distribution, and to be tested in our soil and climate. I have distributed them as equitably as I could to different parts of the State, and shall expect of those to whom they have been sent results, that I may make report to the Department at Washington. All will see that if favors of this kind are to be continued or expected that this must be done. The object of the Department at Washington in sending out sample packages is to ascertain what varieties of wheat, etc., are best suited to particular soils and climates, with a view to their full introduction and cultivation.

Tobacco—It is impossible to make anything like an accurate report as to either the quantity or quality of this year's tobacco crop. The freaks of this remarkable year have no duplicate in any former year within my knowledge. Fruit trees have in some instances grown to maturity a second crop. All over the State they are blooming after having borne their crops (a bad indication for next year's crop). Watermelon vines, after having passed the growing season and were apparently dead, have been renewed in their strength, and have borne second crops; so of other things there are second crops, etc. Out of the usual course as all things may seem, they find a parallel in the tobacco crop. All of the tobacco sown up to the time the drought was broken by a copious rainfall started anew, and has grown out to something like a full crop. In many cases where the tobacco was cut early a second crop has been raised from the suckers of apparently fair quality. We know of an instance in which one man boasts of having gathered three crops from one planting. I conclude that under the circumstances it is impossible to rate the present crop with any degree of accuracy. It cannot be far wrong to place it at 3 of an average, and as embracing every shade of quality. Samples of the White Twist and White Burley now in my office would indicate that much of the present crop will be of very fine quality. It is light, however, but of very fine texture. Amongst other tobacco seeds distributed by me last spring, I sent to all parts of the State seed of the North Carolina tobacco, known in Kentucky as the Good.

The object was to have it tested in the various tobacco-growing districts in the State, the soils being different in each. I hope that those to whom seeds were sent will send samples of it to my office, that I may have its quality passed upon by competent judges. A report from Clark county speaks of it as standing drought better than the Burley, and as being a superior type of tobacco.

Corn—Reports are more cheerful than a month ago with regard to the corn crop. It turns out everywhere to be better than was expected. While in three-quarters of the State not more than a half crop will be gathered, with all stock fit for market sent to the shambles, there will be ample for home purposes. In most of the eastern or mountain counties, and in two or three of the interior counties, good crops were raised.

Premiums—My annual corn show will come off early in December. I will give a first and second premium each of $15 and $10 for the best samples of white and yellow corn adapted to general use. A premium of $10 each for the best samples each of mixed bread and hominy corn—in each case not less than 25 ears to be exhibited. I will give also a premium of $15 for the best five samples of 12 ears each (variety not shown by any one man). This last premium is to give the editors a chance who give annual premiums with the view of introducing into cultivation the best types of corn. And as this is the object of my exhibition, I hope to have samples sent from all parts of the State. Each sample should be boxed and sent by express or freight, with ownership and county distinctly marked on box or tag. The office pays freight charges. As evidence of the good resulting from my annual exhibition, I mention this significant fact: Year before last a gentleman took a single ear from my office. From it he raised seven bushels; with that he planted his entire crop this year. His corn is so superior to all other corn grown in his county that he has already had more than seventy applications for seed for next year. As the Legislature will be in session this winter, it will be easy to distribute the corn put on exhibition to all parts of the State.

Grasses—If time at last sets all things even," so, too, do nature's laws working on some system of compensation, do the same thing. The fall grass crop could not be finer, and with a frost or two to give it strength and substance, and with the small grain crop so luxuriant in growth as to afford pasture without risk of damage, what matters it if the corn crop is a little short? Almost all the clover sown last spring was killed by the severity of the drought.

Perhaps no higher evidence of its severity could be adduced than the fact that blue grass, hardly as its nature, and indigenous to the soil, was, wherever the rock was near the surface killed, and that where the same condition existed many forest trees died.

Sorghum—Sorghum is being more and more, as its virtues become better known, raised as food for stock. Many last year would have cultivated it who did not because of the difficulty of procuring seed. Will those of my friends who raise the variety known as the Red Top, if not generous enough to supply my office with seed, be kind enough to let me know that they have it for sale?

Refertilizers—If this year was to be relied upon to show the benefit resulting from the use of commercial fertilizers, they would go out of the market as pretty much worthless. I presume their seeming failure is to be attributed to the drought. Certainly great benefits have resulted from their use in all the years preceding. As a fertilizer for tobacco I call attention again to the fact that on one farm five successive crops have been raised on the same ground, each succeeding crop being better than the one preceding, green-sowing with rye being the only fertilizer used.

Live Stock—As a general thing is reported in a healthy, thrifty condition. The prices of all classes of stock have been more or less affected by the short crops, but more especially cattle and hogs.

Gardens—All the vegetables have been favorably affected by the seasonable weather of the last few weeks. A fair turnip crop is secured.

Bees—Bees will need careful looking after through the coming winter, or else very many colonies will perish for want of sufficient stores to carry them through to spring.

I am glad to note that there is quite a cheerful tone running through my correspondence that is in marked contrast to that of six weeks ago.

C. E. BOWMAN, Commissioner.

Sheriff's Sale of Land for Taxes.

By virtue of tax sale the Sheriff of Ohio County, Ky., I, or one of my deputies, will, on Monday, November 7, 1881, at the court house door in Hartford, Ky., offer for sale the following lots and tracts of land lying in Ohio County, Ky., on which taxes are due and unpaid. Terms of sale cash in hand. The purchaser is entitled to 30 per cent. interest on his money until redeemed, and a deed to the land if not redeemed in two years.

The amount of taxes due as set out on each list includes levy, costs of advertising and commission for selling, which increases the amount considerably:
